NO CHANGE IN SUBSEA CRISIS

Announcement After Cabinet Meeting Says Situation Remains the Same.

(Associated Press)
President Wilson and Sec. Lansing conferred this morning over the communication to Germany which Wilson completed last night.

Got Sussex Attacker.
The London Daily Mail says the French have captured the submarine, captain and crew which sunk the Sussex.

Russian Bark Sunk.
The Russian bark Schwandner has been sunk by a German submarine. The crew was saved.

Bombarded Headquarters.
The headquarters of the Bulgarian staff at Doiran were successfully bombarded at 3 o'clock yesterday morning by 23 French aeroplanes, according to Saloniki dispatches.

British Forced Back.
British lines on the south bank of the Tigris in Mesopotamia were forced back 800 yards by the Turks in some places, an official London announcement says.

Germans Take Trenches.
Germans occupied a front line of trenches east of Chaffout salient yesterday, but were partially ejected, according to Paris. The Germans also bombarded a first line of the French trenches from Dead Man's Hill to Cumieres.

Chinese Labor.
Owing to the lack of labor in France an organization has been effected to try Chinese, 5,000 of whom are expected in a few months.

Liverpool, April 18.—At least one American perished when the British steamer Inverlyon was torpedoed off Fastnet Light, according to two Americans, survivors, arriving here.

American Is Wounded.
Washington, April 18.—One of two Americans aboard the Russian steamer Imperator, from Gulfport, Miss., for Marseilles, France, was wounded when the vessel was fired upon without warning by an Austrian submarine off the Columbre Islands, according to official advices to the state department. This brings Austria once more into submarine complications with the United States.

The American injured was Gustav Olson, whose father is bandmaster at Port Warren, Boston. The other American aboard was Arner Svensson, whose brother is foreman of a Minneapolis furniture factory.

Information from U. S. Consul.
The state department's information came from the American consul at Barcelona, Spain. He said the ship was fired upon without warning on April 11. Three shots were fired, one taking effect. The vessel was set afire by the submarine, Olson was reported to be in a hospital at Barcelona, suffering from shrapnel wounds.

Secretary Lansing said he probably would take the destruction of the Imperator up with the Austrian government and that a full investigation would be made.

William Smith and Nathan Tilton, two Americans, were among those saved from the British steamer Eastern City, sunk 150 miles off Cardiff, Wales, April 9, the American consul at Cardiff cabled the state department.

President Completes Note.
President Wilson completed the communication to Germany on submarine warfare and sent for Chairman Stone of the senate foreign relations committee and Congressman Flood of the house foreign affairs committee for a conference. This action is in line with the president's policy of keeping congress informed of the progress of the negotiations. Both agreed that the time had come for an accounting by Germany with the submarine issue.

Americans on Steamer Attacked.
Washington, April 18.—Two Americans, William Smith and Nathan Tilton, were on the British steamer Eastern City when she was attacked April 9 off Cardiff, Wales, and sunk by shell fire from a submarine. No lives were lost. A report on the attack was forwarded to the state department by American Consul Lathrop at Cardiff.

Austria in Subsea Controversy.
Washington, D. C., April 18.—Secretary Lansing said he probably would take the destruction of the Imperator up with the Austrian government and that a full investigation would be made. The case apparently again brings Austria into the submarine controversy with the United States.

Mrs. Gross is sewing this week at the home of Mrs. Charles Breisch of South Dixon.

ATTEMPT TO STEAL AUTO FRUSTRATED

HENRY FLOTO'S CAR SANK IN SAND WHEN THIEF RAN IT INTO AN ALLEY.

W.G. FORD'S BICYCLE STOLEN

Was Taken From Rear Porch of His Residence Some Time During the Night.

An attempt to steal Henry Floto's automobile from in front of the M. E. church Monday evening was frustrated by the machine sinking into the sand in the alley where the would-be thief had evidently driven it to avoid detection. Mr. Floto found the machine stalled there after the services.

Suspicion is attached to a stranger who entered the church in an apparently intoxicated condition during the service and who left after about half an hour, taking a hat belonging to Mr. Corbin. While in the church he was seen to roll up his soft felt hat and place it in his pocket, and this morning Mr. Floto found this soft hat back of the church. It may prove the clue that will lead to the apprehension of the marauder.

Stole Ford's Bicycle.

Some time during the night a sneak thief stole W. G. Ford's bicycle from the rear porch of his residence on Lincolnway. The wheel is of peculiar construction, a description of which has been furnished the police, and this may lead to its recovery and apprehension of the thief.

States Attorney Edwards was in charge of the prosecution while Attorney H. A. Brooks looked after the interests of the defendant. Adams has the backing of a number of other clammers and it is likely that the case will be carried to the supreme court to test the validity of the law.

The rigid ordinance was passed, following a demand by union barbers that non-union barbers be prevented from working on Sunday. It was freely predicted that a jury could not be found which would convict those who opened on Sunday. Some of the city commissioners who passed the ordinance declare it is too drastic.

Large stacks of Chicago Sunday newspapers were left over at local news stands, which could not open Sunday to sell them.

TROOPS INVITED INTO PARRAL, NEW REPORT

Pershing Tells More of Wednesday's Fight—Casualty List.

San Antonio, April 18.—A report from General Pershing contained the names of dead and wounded in the Parral fight Wednesday and gave more details of the incident that preceded Major Tompkins' entry into Parral. He said a captain of General Lozano visited the American camp Tuesday night, leaving after breakfast Wednesday morning. It was his insistent invitation that they go directly into Parral that caused Tompkins to enter the city, but to guard further against any unpleasant incident he sent forward a courier, who remained unreported.

Following are the names of the dead in the action at Parral: Sgt. Joe Ridley, Private Herbert Ledford. The wounded are: Maj. Frank Tompkins, Lieut. James B. Ord, Corporal Benjamin McGil, Corporal W. E. Willingham, Corporal Richard Tammous, Private L. M. Shedyer. In addition, Private Charles Eichenberger was reported missing. With the exception of Lieut. Ord of the sixth infantry, all belong to the thirteenth cavalry. Corporal Tammous' injury is the only one reported as serious.

AMERICAN PURSUIT VILLA AT STANDSTILL

GEN. PERSHING HALTS ADVANCE CAVALRY AND IS CONCENTRATING HIS FORCES.

ANTI-AMERICAN FEELING AROUSED

Mexicans Inflamed By Reports of Crushing Defeat for Invading Forces.

(Associated Press)

A dispatch from Gen. Pershing's camp, dated yesterday, says the American pursuit of Villa is at a standstill because of the unprovoked attack upon an American cavalry by insubordinate soldiers of the Carranza garrison at Parral. It seemed that there would be no prospect of a resumption of the chase, while there were indications that a continuation of the pursuit would meet with armed resistance.

Feeling Inflamed.

Reports received at El Paso from Mexican sources state that the American advance detachments have been recalled by Gen. Pershing and that the expeditionary forces are being concentrated in three places—Satevo, Na maquipa and Colonia Duban. The reports indicate that the partial fighting has greatly inflamed anti-American feeling in northern Mexico.

The incident is said to have been greatly magnified by anti-American and anti-Carranza agitators, who report it as a great battle in which the Americans were defeated.

No Confirmation Yet.

Confirmation of the reported discovery of Villa's body is still lacking. If he is not dead he has now had an opportunity to escape into territory far beyond the most advanced American detachments, because the punitive force has now penetrated about as far south as it can go with present numbers, El Paso says.

Wounded Men Coming.

A truck train is due in Columbus today bringing 31 sick and wounded men. It is not known whether they are Americans or Mexicans.

Yanks Fired Upon.

A small party of American officers were fired upon near Gen. Pershing's camp Sunday night, but none were injured.

Where Report Started.

The report that Villa is dead is generally discredited by the officers of Gen. Pershing's camp. Gen. Bell of San Antonio, reporting to General Funston, gave it as his opinion after as thorough an investigation as he could make, that the report of Villa's death was manufactured in Jaurez.

Never Near Scene.

Officers of the de facto government say Villa was never reported south of San Francisco Borja, where the body was said to have been found, and that the American forces are only following a blind trail over the Chihuahua-Durango line.

Seized Supplies.

Gen. Funston is investigating a rumor that a trainload of supplies for the American troops have been seized by the Carranza officials.

Washington, April 18.—Notice has been served upon the American troops in the vicinity of Parral that another attempt on their part to enter the town will be followed by fresh trouble. Information to this effect was contained in a message received at the war department from General Pershing.

El Paso, April 18.—Reports from Pershing's field headquarters received here are to the effect the fighting at Parral was a deliberate attack by Carranzistas. The American troops, it is reported, were drawn into a trap in an effort to annihilate them. Major Tompkins supposedly was being escorted through the town by General Lozano, commanding the garrison, when the firing began. Major Tompkins saw a body of men under a Mexican flag on an adjacent hill, who, General Lozano said, were there to guard them, but when a so-called guard fired a volley at Tompkins' men, killing one, the U. S. commander decided to fight and cut loose, killing forty Mexicans.

Washington, April 18.—Villa was last seen in the direction of the place where reports said he was buried, said reports received by Secretary Baker from Naco, N. M. This tends to confirm the story of Villa's death as related by Mexican officials. Major Howze made the report.

El Paso, Tex., April 18.—Andres Garcia, Mexican consul at El Paso, held a long conference with General Gavira, commander at Juarez. At the

SIR JOHN FRANKLIN.

Tomorrow will be the anniversary of Sir John Franklin's birthday. He was born in 1786, in England, of well-to-do parents. The event made no stir at the time, but it was destined later to convulse and disturb all the civilized world; for Sir John Franklin afterwards rose to fame by getting more completely lost than any other man in history and at a cost of hundreds of thousands of dollars to find him.

Franklin was an adventurous lad and fought at Trafalgar when twenty years old. Later he visited New Orleans with General Peckham and received so sizzling a reception that he returned with his coat full of bullet holes. The climate of Louisiana proving too warm, he next visited America by way of Hudson's Bay. After wandering three years in the frozen north and living on suspenders and fried pocketbooks, he returned alive once more by a small plurality.

But the desire to tour America still burned in Sir John Franklin's breast. He had a monopoly of all the desire of this sort in Europe it seems. In 1825 he set out again and spent two years

He held the mirror up to nature so you can see both the bad and the good. But he never makes bad attractive. "Shakespeare makes you despise the bad as well as love the good."

One of the largest Masonic conclaves ever held here is anticipated next Sunday when the members of Sycamore Commandery No. 15 of Rochelle will entertain 300 Sir Knights from Sycamore. The local Knight Templars will march to the train and form an honorary escort to the First Presbyterian church where Hon. Delmar D. Darrah of Bloomington, editor of the Free Mason and grand secretary of the Commandery of Illinois, will give the Easter address. Following the services the visitors will be tendered a banquet at the Woodman hall, at 12:30 o'clock. A reception at the Masonic hall will conclude the day's entertainment. The Ortol Male Quartette of Chicago will contribute members at the church and will sing at the banquet.

A. W. Guest, J. E. Barber, Geo. N. Grieve and W. P. Graham head the finance, banquet, reception and entertainment committees, respectively. Miss Blanche Williams, a student at the Conservatory of Music of the University of Michigan, gave a very pleasing recital at the Presbyterian church Sunday evening under the auspices of the People's Sunday Evening club. W. P. Landon was speaker of the evening, speaking on "The Three Hundredth Anniversary of the Birth of Shakespeare." Mr. Landon quoted the two maxims of Shakespeare as "This above all, to thyselves be true," and "Those friends that hast bound themselves to you with hoops of steel." He said that Shakespeare was supremely great. No other author has developed anywhere as many characters. He excelled in creating complex characters. He held the mirror up to nature so you can see both the bad and the good. But he never makes bad attractive. "Shakespeare makes you despise the bad as well as love the good."

was what the Spanish explorer sought in Florida. Youth cannot be perpetual but with health a man or woman can retain youthful looks till the near approach of actual old age. If a woman is dragging wearily along oppressed by some woman's ailment, she may expect a return of youthful beauty and vivacity by using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

BREAK UP VENIZELOS MEET

Disturbers at Athens Cry "Long Live the King."

Athens, April 18.—An attempt to break up a meeting by adherents of former Premier Venizelos ended in riotous demonstrations. Speakers were greeted with cries of "Down with the traitors" and "Long live the King." Efforts were made to eject the disturbers. The police cleared the hall amid great disorder.

2 DOUBLE SLAYINGS MYSTIFY INDIANANS

Heiress Shot by Kin, Who Ends Own Life.

Washington, Ind., April 18.—Miss Daisy M. Jones, thirty-six years old, daughter of a former sheriff of Daviess county, and heiress to part of an estate of $150,000, was shot and killed at the home of her brother-in-law, James Perkins, a wealthy farmer, near here. Perkins, who is charged with the crime, was found dead with his throat cut with a razor.

His sixteen-year-old daughter, seriously ill, is said to have attempted to prevent her aunt's death. There is no reason known for the tragedy.

Spencer, Ind., April 18.—Miss Fern Brumit, eighteen years old, was shot and killed, it is charged, by Harry Dyer, forty, while waiting for a traction car to return to Indianapolis from the funeral of Dyer's mother. Dyer then attempted to commit suicide by shooting himself. Miss Brumit and Dyer walked away from the traction station, and in a few seconds four shots were heard. No reason is known for the shooting unless Dyer had become insane from grief.

Washington, April 18.—Justice McKenna of the supreme court, upon the application of the department of justice, stayed the effect of the northern California federal district court's decision annulling long and short haul rates across the continent.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

Notices of any character relating to future events for which an admission fee is charged are inserted in our society columns at 10 cents a line.

Easter Dance.

The regular Thursday evening dance at Moose Hall on April 20 will be an Easter dancing party which is looked forward to as one of the biggest affairs of the kind ever given, as these dances are getting to be more popular with the dancing public, who know that when they come to one of these dances they are assured of a fine time and courteous treatment, as it is made a point to look after the welfare of every person who attends, not only for the good of the persons in attendance but for the reputation of the dances which must be kept above the average.

At St. Paul's.

The services at St. Paul's church on Palm Sunday were beautiful and impressive and the music especially note worthy, with many special numbers. Dr. Altman, the pastor, received into the protection of the church 25 children in baptism and 21 members were added to the already large membership. Services will be held throughout the week commemorative of Holy Week, the services this evening to be conducted by the pastor of the South Dixon Lutheran churches, Rev. L. Woods.

At Winders Home.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Winders are entertaining Mrs. Fred Winders and children of Haywood who arrived Saturday to spend a few days visiting with them.

Returned to Mendota.

Miss Cora Miller, who was here from Mendota spending the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Miller, returned to Mendota today.

Inspired "Good Fairy."

The "Good Fairy" a figurine impersonating purity, sprightliness and the hope of childhood, made into marble by the young sculptress, Miss Josephine Kern, was inspired by Mrs. Jessie McCutcheon Raleigh, who a number of years ago was a frequent guest in Dixon as the guest of Miss Annabel Baldwin, who has since moved away and has many friends here. This charming little figure is finding its way into so many homes, offices, and hospitals, and the expression of purity, innocence, freedom and youth which the author has succeeded in implanting in it, is very vital, life-giving and cheering. A much better influence, one would think, than those ugly billikens or the three-in-one, "Eyes that see not, ears that hear not and lips that speak not" Chinese figure.

Guests of Miss Crawford

Mr. and Mrs. Will Philpott and daughter, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Frank Downing, are now the guests of Miss Grace Crawford.

Saturday Dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Gilbert entertained Saturday evening as dinner guests at the Nachusa Tavern Mr. and Mrs. Will Philpott, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Downing, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dimick, Dr. and Mrs. Z. W. Moss and Miss Grace Crawford.

At Luncheon.

Mr. and Mrs. Dimick entertained at luncheon Sunday evening for Mr. and Mrs. Will Philpott of Minneapolis the following guests: Judge and Mrs. J. B. Crabtree, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Downing, Mr. and Mrs. Will Gilbert and Miss Grace Crawford.

Hike from Sterling.

Misses Helen Palmer, Helen Rosengren, Florence Ebersole and Helen Dietrich of Sterling walked to Dixon Saturday afternoon—think of it, 12 miles and without stealing a ride in anyone's milk wagon or automobile—and were guests at supper of Miss Joy Stitzel. The return trip was made on the interurban.

Third in Hat Contest.

The Chicago Sunday Herald announces the winners of the Easter Hat Design contest which has been creating such wide interest among the fair sex and as third best the name of Mrs. Seyfarth appears. Other Dixon people competing were Miss Pauline Adams, Miss Marian Cahill, Miss Anna Fagan, Miss Mary Alice Henry, Mrs. Ruth Godfrey, Miss Mabel Kay, Emma J. Mother, Mrs. F. X. Newcomer and Mrs. R. Scott. The paper in commenting on the number of contributions, which mount up into the thousands, speaks of the widespread art instinct that evidently is not thrown in to working channels.

St. Mary's Guild.

A special meeting of St. Mary's Guild is called for this evening at 8 o'clock at K. C. hall.

Home from South.

Mrs. Fred M. Smith is home from seven weeks visit in Florida.

To Attend Wedding.

Attorney and Mrs. E. E. Wingert and daughter, Miss Marjorie, go tomorrow to Moline to attend the wedding on Thursday of Mrs. Wingert's cousin, Miss Anna May Simmons. Miss Simmons is quite well known here as she has often visited at the Wingert home and with Mrs. Elizabeth Barge Martin, another cousin. Miss Marjorie Wingert will sing preceding the wedding ceremony.

City Alty Dancing Party.

Such a pretty party as the City Alty club gave last evening in Socialist hall. The hall presented a dainty Japanese effect, the fairy-like pink and white cherry blossoms arranged about the orchestra stand and booth where punch was served, wafting one to that land where beauty reigns supreme. The decorations were not overdone, as so often is the case—just enough to catch the eye and catch it to wander back again and again, but not enough to fairly drown one in color. Pink and white paper was arranged about the orchestra stand with the boughs of the pink cherry blossoms arranged in dainty relief on the white, and at one side of the loft was a large green and bronze reed bowl filled with the cherry blossoms and pussy willows. The punch booth, where little cakes and delicious punch were served to refresh the dancers, received much the same treatment with the exception that Japanese lanterns were added. The punch was served by three little misses gowned in white, Marguerite and Josephine Watts and Lucile Frye. The new hall, itself, presented an attractive appearance and was exceedingly comfortable with its many electric fans. The floor was in perfect condition and added much to the pleasure of the dancers, of whom there were about sixty couples. The Slothower orchestra furnished very pleasing music.

Invitations to the City Alty dances, of which about four are given through out the year, are much desired, as they are always such pleasurable occasions. The club is one of the smaller social clubs of the city, composed entirely of young married people. The membership at present includes: Mesdames Lewis Drummond, Nolan Lord, Walter Fuhs, Fred Platteh, Guy Merriman, Earl Sproul, Dwight Rolph Louis Schumm, Earl Kennedy, Harry Major, Ralph Zarger and Charles Lievan.

Patronesses of the party included Mrs. Blinn Smith, Mrs. Harvey Senneff and Mrs. Theodore Wilson.

Dr. and Mrs. Thompson of Bluff Park entertained guests at Sunday evening luncheon.

With LaSalle Friends.

Mrs. Arthur Fletcher of Chicago, formerly of Dixon, is visiting friends in LaSalle.

Euchre will be played a la Mexicano.

Hair Often Ruined By Washing With Soap

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it. The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulsified coconut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use. One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage. You can get mulsified coconut oil at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

Daddy's Bedtime

Story—The Hen Gives The Ugly Duckling Some Good Advice.

Had Never Seen Anything So Beautiful.

[Adapted from Hans Christian Andersen.]

WHEN the hen advised the ugly duckling to pur like a cat," daddy began the bedtime story. "he answered her: 'But I would rather swim. It is so nice to feel water rushing over your head and to float on it! It is great fun to dive to the bottom!'

"That would be fine fun!" cried the hen. "I think you have gone mad! Ask the cat. He is the wisest creature I know. Ask him if he is fond of floating on the water or living under it. I say nothing about myself. Ask your mistress, the old woman. There is no one in all the world cleverer than she. Do you think she wants to float on water or dive under it?"

"You do not understand me," said the ugly duckling.

"Well, if we don't understand you who will? I suppose you don't consider yourself cleverer than the cat and the old woman, not to mention me. Don't make a fool of yourself, my child. And thank your stars for all the good advice we have given you. And have you not lived in this warm room, had our good society and learned something from us? But you are a fool. There is no pleasure in associating with you. I really mean you well. I tell you home truths. There is no surer way than that of knowing who one's friends are. You just see about laying some eggs or learn to pur or to send out some sparks when your back is rubbed the wrong way."

"I think I will go out into the wide world," said the ugly duckling.

"Oh, do so by all means!" said the hen.

"So away went the duckling. He found some water and floated on it and ducked under it and had a lovely time. But every living creature snubbed him for his ugliness. Now the autumn came, and the leaves of the trees turned yellow and brown. The wind took hold of them, and they danced about. The sky looked very cold, and the clouds hung heavy with snow and hail. A raven stood on a fence and croaked, "Caw, caw!" from sheer cold. It makes one shiver to think of it, the poor duckling was in such a bad case.

"One evening the sun was just setting in splendor when a flock of beautiful large birds came out of the bushes. The ugly duckling had never seen anything so beautiful. They were dazzling white with long waving necks. They gave a strange cry, spread out their magnificent broad wings and flew away from the cold to warmer lands and open seas."

"Oh, daddy, what kind of birds were they?" cried the children.

"They were swans," said daddy, kissing them good night.

"Thank you, daddy!" cried Jack and Evelyn.

GARCIA IS SURE VILLA WAS SLAIN

conclusion of the meeting Garcia said he had received no news of the arrival of Villa's body at Cushturashic, but said the Mexican government was making every effort to communicate with Colonel Carlos Carranza, reported coming north with the body.

Consul Garcia learned from the telegrapher at San Antonio, Mex., he said, that Villa was wounded on March 27 and was demented for some time before his death, which resulted from blood poisoning.

No Military Funeral.

Garcia announced that Villa's body, if brought to Juarez, will be buried in the potter's field alongside the victims of the executioner's squads. "There will be no military funeral," said Garcia.

Gomez Troops Sent to Chihuahua.

El Paso, Tex., April 18.—Reports from General Pershing of further fighting with bandits in the vicinity of Parral, and a telegram from Douglas, Ariz., stating that General Gomez, commanding the Carranza forces in Sonora, had left for the purpose of taking command through Pulpita Pass into the State of Chihuahua, caused more discussion along the border than the reported discovery of Villa.

For some days troops along the border have been held in readiness to reinforce the line of communication behind General Pershing in the event of the Carranza troops moving into Chihuahua from Sonora, and the news that the movement was about to be started did not cause any relaxation in the preparedness plans of the American troops.

MOTHERCRAFT.

The Wisdom of Treating a Child as if He Had Feelings.

Don't consider it necessary to systematically underrate your child. Your adult friends will know you do not mean it, but the child will not, and probably more characters are weakened by the lack of self confidence engendered by such a process than by the vanity which follows the silly bragging of overloved parents.

Don't think that the moment you are alone with your boy or girl you must find fault or endeavor to improve the occasion by a little moralizing, no matter in how loving a spirit. This is the hardest sort of all, for no one is so anxious to help a child toward perfection as is the parent, yet it surely leads to an avoidance of the moments alone together, which should be times of happy confidences.

Don't correct the child before others. Never mind if a well meaning relative does say, "My dear, I am surprised that you do not show more force of character; your children are suffering from a lack of discipline." Pass the matter over until you and the small offender can have it out alone. If the circumstances are such that it cannot be passed over take him out of the room.

Lastly, laugh often with, but never at, your child. This takes self denial, but it pays. Make up your mind that whatever others may say, he can depend upon you for a quick, sure understanding, without quibble or joke at his expense. This does not mean that he must not take his share of harmless fun. It is wholesome, and too much sheltering would make him oversensitive; but the mother who lets her child know that she never makes fun of him will be surprised at the confidence with which he relies upon it.—Mother's Magazine.

Economy In Curtains.

The best cheap material for the window curtains of a little summer cottage may be found in the common five cent cheesecloth. This has a texture which is more attractive than many handsome materials, and it has the added charm of washing well, though extra length should be allowed in the hems and casings for shrinking.

Larded Sweetbreads.

Put them in cold water, remove the pipes and membranes; cook them in boiling salted water with one table-spoonful of lemon juice twenty minutes and plunge into cold water to harden; dry, lard them with strips of salt pork and bake until brown, basting with brown stock. Serve with peas.

Potato Drum.

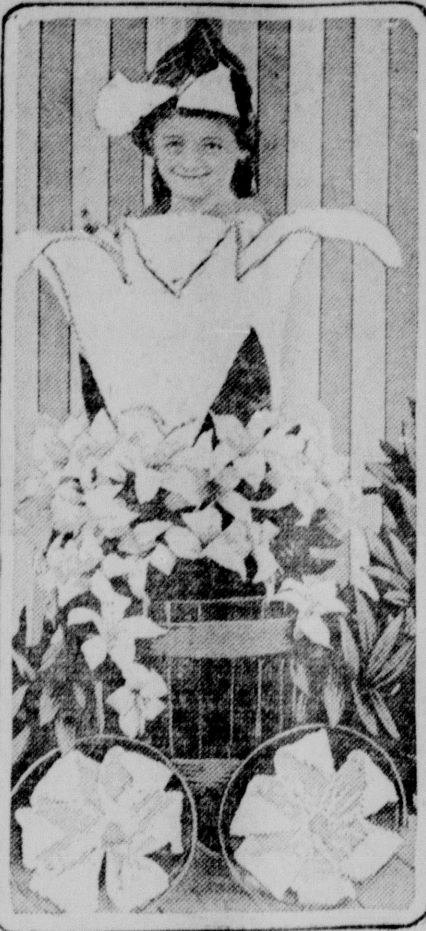

Press three cupfuls of mashed potatoes through a sieve, add three table-spoonfuls of butter, half a teaspoonful of salt and the beaten yolks of three eggs. Shape with the fingers into the form of a drum, brown in the oven and serve with parsley stuck in the top.

Violet Underbeddies.

Some of the new lace blouses show underbeddies of pale violet crepe or silk. These are especially attractive for wear with a suit in some shade of purple or plum.

IN THE EASTER LILY

Consider The Lilies Of the field

By CHARLES KINGSLEY.

HAT has this text to do with Easter day? Let us think awhile. Life and death, life conquered by death and death conquered again by life. Those were the mysteries over which the men of old time thought, often till their hearts were sad.

And because our forefathers were a sad and earnest folk, because they lived in a sad and dreary climate, where winter was far longer and more bitter than it is, thank God, now, therefore, all their thoughts about winter and spring were sad and they grew to despair at last of life ever conquering death or light conquering darkness.

And then—so strangely does God's gift of hope linger in the hearts of men—they saw beyond all that a dim dream of a new heaven and a new earth in which should dwell righteousness, and of a new sun, more beautiful than ours; of a woman called "Life," hid safe while all the world around her was destroyed, fed on the morning dew, preserved to be the mother of a new and happier race of men. And so to them, heathens as they were, God whispered that Christ should some day bring life and immortality to light.

"So it pleased the Father," says St. Paul, "to gather together in Christ all things, whether in heaven or in earth." In him were fulfilled and more than fulfilled the dim longings, the child-like dreams of heathen poets and sages and of our own ancestors from whom we spring.

He is the desire of all nations, for whom all were longing, though they knew it not. And now we may see, it seems to me, what the text has to do with Easter day. Be not anxious, says our Lord, for your life. Is not the life more than meat? There is an eternal life, which depends not on earthly food, but on the will and work of God, your Father, and that life in you will conquer death.

Consider the lilies of the field. All the winter they are dead, unsightly roots, hidden in the earth. What can come of them? But no sooner does the sun of spring shine on their graves than they rise into sudden life and beauty as it pleases God, and every seed takes its own peculiar body. Even so is the resurrection of the dead.

The Co-operative Plan

A Farmer Tries It on an Auto

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1916, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

I was driving across the country with a horse and buggy when I came to the wreck of an auto in the ditch, and a farmer was tinkering at it. He had a sledge, crowbar, an ax, a cold chisel and a screwdriver and had worked up a nice little state of perspiration.

"You appear to have a wreck here," I said as I drew in my horse.

"Appear?" he shouted as he looked up. "If this isn't the dumbest wreck anybody ever saw I'll eat my hat!"

"How did it happen?"

"How does anything happen to an auto with a fool driving it?"

"Was it yours?" I asked, scenting a story.

"One-fifth of her was mine up to last night. Now the whole sad remains belong to me. Did you ever hear of the co-operative plan among farmers?"

"Lots of times."

"Well, then, this was co-operation in buyin' and runnin' an automobile, and this is one of the results of it. The other result is that I am about $300 out of pocket and have lost a widdler who was goin' to be my wife. If you want to hear all about it I'll tell you, for I guess it ain't any use to tinker any more at this blamed old thing."

The farmer took a seat on the mortal remains of the auto and drew a long breath and proceeded to say:

"There was Tom Evans, Joe Baxter, Jim Williams and St. Perkins. They are all farmers and live about here. They are all married men, and each one has a gang of children. As for me, I am an old bachelor, but I was a sparkin' of the nicest widdler woman in this county. The four men I have mentioned come over to my house one evenin' a month ago, and Tom Evans asks if I would go in with 'em on the co-operative plan to buy an auto."

"How much?" says I.

"A thousand," says he.

"That's $250 each."

"Just so, Sam."

"And the auto was bought?" I queried.

"She was, sir. She arrived here glisterin' like a star, and she excited the wonder of folks for ten miles around. We got a feller from town to show us how to run her, and in about a week we was all ready to glide around the country. Bein' I was a single man and mightily in love with a widdler, they said I might take the auto out first, which was very decent of them. I felt sure I could run the machine as good as any man in the state. It was a bright moonlight night, and the whip-poorwills were singin' and the katydids chirpin', and that widdler woman should promise to be mine before we returned."

"And did she?" was asked as the farmer heaved a long sigh.

"She didn't, stranger, and I'll tell you why. We had gone about a mile as steady as an old horse when the auto shied at a stone in the road, ran through a rail fence, wrecked the auto, and the widdler gave me fits."

"It gets interesting," I said.

"Kinder interestin', stranger—kinder so. We got a machinist to tinker $20 worth of tinker, and the old machine could run again. Then it was Tom's turn. He has a wife and five children, and they all piled in. They was clip-pin' along as happy as larks when they came to a crossroad. The auto was for keepin' straight ahead, Tom wanted to turn to the right and his wife to the left, and the result was that the machine run into and knocked over the guillemot and then tried to climb a fence. The whole family took a spill and was scattered for twenty rods around. No one was killed, and there was no broken bones, but the bruises are yet blue, and Tom still walks bent over like an old man on account of the jar to his spine. By this time we had all got skeery of the machine; but, it bein' now Jim's turn and he not wantin' to be called a coward, he took out his family for a promenade. As the other accidents had occurred at night, Jim went out in the afternoon. He thought there might be somethin' in the night air that affected the old critter. There was seven in the family, and they was climbin' the hill beyond the red ridge when all to once the auto gave a snort and stopped in her tracks."

"What's the matter?" asked Jim's wife.

"Durned if I know, but she's got to go!" he answers.

"And she did go, sir—she went backwards. There was screamin' and yellin' and swearin', and Joe's wife slapped his face, but nothin' did any good. That auto kept on goin' backwards until it dumped them all in the river, which was about three feet deep at that time. They was shook up and bruised and half drowned, but they was lucky for all that. They waded ashore and left the old auto lyin' on its back in the river."

"But you got it out again?" I asked.

"Yes. We had to," was the reply. "It was tryin' to get the old critter home agin' that she suddenly boiled and run into a telegraph pole and wrecked herself as you see her."

"And she won't be tinkered up again?"

"She can't be. There's nothin' left to tinker, unless the blacksmith thinks he can make five wise men out of the five fools who bought her and lost about $230 apiece. I used to think co-operation of farmers was a beautiful thing, but darn my cats if I ain't through with it!"

GARDEN CUES.

Plant Seed on Cloudy Day and Water Ground With a Spray.

Always select a rather still, cloudy day to plant the seed. If the day is windy some of it (which is very fine) will be blown about, and this must be avoided. After sowing, water the ground with the fine spray in the nozzle of the hand watering can. Never use a garden hose for this purpose or you will injure much of the seed.

A garden that is composed entirely of blooming plants must be planted in a sunny situation. Not even a branch of some tall tree must cast a single shadow across it. Where the shadow falls there will be few flowers.

In the beginning it will require a certain care. The plants will spring up in close masses, which must be thinned out. Each plant, if it is to develop to its full quota of beauty, must have room for individual development. When thinning out your garden give the plants you do not need to your neighbor or to some friend. This may encourage her to make a garden.

For the first few weeks it may be rather hard to distinguish weeds from flowers, but in a short time the former can be detected and uprooted easily.

Keep down all weeds and bear in mind that they are usually more vigorous growers and have stronger constitutions than other flowers, and unless they are destroyed you will have a garden of weeds, with only here and there a few very indifferent plants bearing even more indifferent blooms.

Before sowing the seed make a rough sketch of the plot. This will prevent a clash of colors when the blooming season comes. Unless you take this precaution you are apt to have brilliant yellow poppies growing next to red verbenas and other garish combinations.

As a second equally important reason, every plant has its own height, and if you would see all your posies you must have the low growing varieties along the borders and the tall ones in the background. So plant the hollyhocks in the back beyond the phlox, which are not so tall, and the sweet alyssum in front of the garden pinks for the same reason. Your plan may be ever so crude, but it takes only a few minutes and will eliminate future confusion and disappointments.

Baked Crabs.

Mix with the contents of a can of deviled crab meat, breadcrumbs or powdered crackers, pepper and salt to taste. Mince some cold ham. Have the baking pan well buttered, place therein first a layer of crab meat prepared as above, then a layer of minced ham, and so on, alternating until the pan is filled. Cover the top with crumbs and bits of butter and bake.

A Young Fashion.

Plaids are shown for children as usual, and many of them are very attractive. These are often made into three piece suits which consist of a jumper scalloped at the bottom, a plaited skirt, also of the plaid, with a detachable waist of white French linen.

Beautiful Hair.

If the hair is inclined to be dry it should have a little oil rubbed on the scalp once or twice a week. Massage will loosen the scalp and increase the circulation, and the nourishment of the hair is dependent upon the blood supply.

HOW TO PREPARE FRENCH SOUPS THAT ARE WHOLESOME.
A bowl of good hot soup is very acceptable. But how often is it good?

Soup should never be used the same day, if possible. Allow it to stand one night and all the flavorings will blend together, which makes all the difference when reheated.

It is a great mistake to put odds and ends of vegetables into the stock pot. The pot should be kept for bones and trimmings of meat, your poultry giblets, bacon rind, etc. Vegetables cause fermentation.

The stock pot should be turned out into a clean enameled bowl every third day, thoroughly cleaned and some of the bones removed. Those that have been in longest will be easily recognized by the cook.

The idea of a stock pot is to have a good foundation for any soup you choose to make, tomato, lentil, celery and potato being four most popular and easily made.

If you have no stock the liquor in which fresh brussels sprouts, cauliflower, celery, potatoes and onions are boiled all make an excellent start for a vegetable soup. In France they never throw away such liquors, having been taught that the salts and most of the goodness of the articles cooked in is in the water.

Half a cupful of milk added to most soups just before serving gives them that soft, creamy taste that makes all the difference.

Stock made from mutton bones blends with turnips, onions, parsley, barley, rice, etc.

Beef stock blends with carrots, lentils, split peas, tomatoes, celery and green pea flour. Onions, unless disliked, go with everything.

Combing Won't Rid Hair Of Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.

OPERA HOUSE

Have you noticed the special program of feature pictures showing at the opera house this week? You lovers of the best in motion pictures should give this your heartiest support. It is time for the pulpit and the screen to work hand in hand for the betterment of the human race. Already churches and schools are installing moving picture machines, realizing the great power for good the photoplay has become.

Tonight's feature, "The Unwelcome Wife," preaches a sermon very appropriate to Holy Week but it isn't a dry sermon and the audience or congregation, will not be tempted to go to sleep. This is a picture every husband and wife should see. Let every woman ask herself the question: "What would you do if you were in this wife's place?" Full of heart throbs, pathos and strong dramatic touches, the story is intensely interesting.

At the end of the program that rip-roaring comedy, "Nick Flynn's Escapades," will send you home in good humor. "Bogorra, Nick was some escapador; he was that."

On Wednesday the great Shakespearean actor, Frederick Ward, will be seen in his masterpiece of the legitimate stage, Richard III. As Sir Henry Irving was famous for his Shyregation, will not be tempted to go to sleep. This is a picture every hus-

GREECE FACING ENTENTE CRISIS

Allies' Troop Movements Draw Her to War's Edge.

HELLENIC AUTHORITY FLOUTED

Allies Decide To Transport Serbian Army Overland and Not Risk Submarines—Greek King Reported Incensed—Nevertheless, Serbs Are Moving Across His Country.

London, April 18.—Decisive steps by the allies have forced a new crisis at Athens, with the possibility that Greece may find herself thrust into war against her will.

Overriding the objections of the Greek government, the allies have begun transporting Serbian troops overland by rail from Corfu to Saloniki. The Austrian and German governments, according to Athens dispatches, protested several days ago that they would regard it as a deliberately unfriendly act if Greece permitted this troop movement.

French correspondents at Athens reported that King Constantine is incensed at the action of the allies and may attempt to stop the transportation of Serbian troops by a show of arms.

Fear Water Route.

The allies did not want to transport the newly equipped Serbian army from the island of Corfu to Saloniki by water because of the danger from Austro-German submarines. They therefore suggested to Premier Skouloudis that the Serbian troops be sent to Patras by steamer and then transported by rail.

The Greek prime minister sounded out the German and Austrian ministers on this suggestion. They telegraphed their governments and received immediate replies that both Germany and Austria would consider that Greece had overstepped the bounds of neutrality if she acquiesced in the allies' suggestion.

Allies Disregard Skouloudis. This information was at once communicated to the ministers of the allies. Premier Skouloudis, announced that Serbian troops would have to pass through Piraeus, the port of Athens, in a movement by rail, and that their presence near the capital might inflame the people to violent demonstrations.

The allies, however, proceeded with their arrangements and the first Serbian detachment to be landed at Patras reached Saloniki on Saturday.

Entente Make Base at Crete. Athens, April 18.—The entente allies have established a naval base in Suda Bay on the north coast of the island of Crete.

German Posts Bombed.

Paris, April 18.—Raids by two French aerial squadrons on the Saloniki front are reported in a Havas dispatch from Athens. One squadron dropped bombs on Bulgarian forces assembled at Strumitsa station. The other attack was made on German positions at Bordantze. Both squadrons returned undamaged.

To Build New Interurban Line.

Geneseo, Ill., April 18.—The building of an electric railroad from Tampico to this city is contemplated. It is proposed to have the line operating by Jan. 1, 1917.

900 Women Voted.

Effingham, Ill., April 18.—Five hundred women voted at the election in Effingham for members of the board of education.

Policeman Stays Offended.

Herrin, Ill., April 18.—Rube Stewart, night policeman at Royall, shot and killed Oscar Halze, who resisted arrest.

How to Make Delicious Fruit Cocktails For Company Spreads.

A delicious first course for the spring luncheon or midday Sunday dinner is fruit cocktail, served ice cold in dainty glasses. Use the fruits of the season—orange, bananas, apples, white grapes and perhaps a little chopped pineapple. Skin the grapes, pare the apples and cut the oranges in very thin slices through pulp and rind. Then chop all the fruit in small pieces and soak an hour in their own juice sweetened with sugar. Then stand on the ice until just before serving, when the fruit cocktail may be flavored with a little Rhine wine or claret.

How to Dry Your New Umbrella and So Make It Last.

When you come in from the rain put the umbrella in the rack with the handle downward, because when the handle is upward the water runs down inside to the place where the ribs are joined to the handle and cannot get out, but stays, rotting the cloth and rusting the metal until slowly dried away. The wire fastening the ribs soon rusts and breaks. If placed the other end up the water readily runs off and the umbrella dries almost immediately.

How to Test an Oven Before You Burn Your Cake.

Test your oven before putting in the cake by throwing on the bottom a spoonful of dry flour. If the flour takes fire or quickly turns dark brown color the oven's temperature is too high, and you should allow the oven to cool a little. If the flour remains white after it has been there a few moments the temperature is too low. If the oven is of the proper heat the flour will slightly brown and look a little scorched.

Two International Spies

By ETHEL HOLMES

Before the pan-European war we Americans supposed that our affairs did not interest other powers. Since then we have awakened to the fact that every government has a spy system within the territory of every other government. England, France, Italy and other powers keep secret service workers in other countries. Of all the Germans have the most perfect and extended organization. And yet some of the principal fields of the working of the German propaganda in America have originated with the British secret service men. While these systems may have been strengthened and enlarged since the opening of the war, there is reason to believe that they have always existed.

Austria and Russia have always been watching each other on account of the persistent encroachment of the two on the Balkans. Some years ago two Russian girls, sisters, went to Vienna as spies for the czar upon the intentions of the emperor of Austria regarding schemes to carve Austrian provinces out of Balkan territory. One of these girls, Maria, obtained a position as copyist in the Austrian foreign office. The other, Vera, kept house for the two in rooms in an apartment building. Since they were in the pay of the Russian government they did not want for anything.

Maria was under the orders of Caspar Grenthall, a man who conducted one of the bureaus of the department in which she worked. He was a handsome and otherwise attractive man, and when he made love to her she reciprocated. When they were not engaged in the office he took her out to the gardens and other places of amusement and by his kindness gradually won her heart.

It was not long before Grenthall proposed marriage to Maria. Though she loved him, she hesitated to accept him. Indeed, his being a spy complicated the affair, making her very unhappy.

Then suddenly Maria received a shock. One day when she was at work a girl occupying a desk beside her slipped a bit of paper among those before her. Maria unfolded it and read that she was suspected of purloining a certain document that had passed through her hands. Grenthall had won her in order to find out if she were stealing such documents. Her room would be searched that evening.

Maria was not only disturbed at discovering that Grenthall had deceived her, but in terror at the suspicion that existed against her. Either her life or a long imprisonment would pay the penalty. As soon as office hours were over she went to her room and told her sister what had occurred. She had stolen the paper in question, and it was concealed in their apartment. Taking it from its hiding place, she was thinking what to do with it when there was a sound of persons coming up the stairs without. She had only time to thrust the paper into her bosom when the door was thrown open and in walked Grenthall, accompanied by several men. He made no apology for his entrance or for having played the spy upon Maria. He and his men began a search of the rooms.

Evidently he had expected to surprise Maria and, if the missing paper was in her possession, to find it concealed in her apartments. Not finding it after a thorough search, it occurred to him that it might be on her person. He sent one of the men with him for a woman to make the search. When she arrived he told her to find out whether Maria had the paper.

Maria, when the man who had won her heart to betray her entered, gave him a look of anger, then, when the searching began, fell upon her sister's neck, sobbing piteously. While the two women were clasped in each other's arms, their bosoms close up against each other, Vera contrived to take the paper from her sister's bosom and slip it into her own.

Maria was the one suspected, but it was not to be expected that Vera would be left off without examination. Believing that she would be searched, she cast about for some means of getting rid of the paper. She started to leave the apartment, but Grenthall ordered her back. When the woman came she made the search in one of the bedrooms, the men remaining elsewhere. Vera was with her sister. Maria was required to take off her clothes, which were carefully examined by the searcher and laid upon a table. While her back was turned Vera contrived to slip the paper into a pocket of one of the garments that had been examined. Her sister saw her do this, and hope sprang up within her.

When the search was finished and nothing found the result was reported to Grenthall. Having done all he could in the matter, he withdrew his assistants and went away while Maria was dressing.

The paper was a valuable one for the Russian government, and the sisters were anxious to save it. That night Vera, dressed as a boy, stepped out of the apartment and gained a lower suit without being noticed. The next morning, though a watch had been established, she got to the street and away without being recognized. Maria went to the foreign office, but was discharged. Had it been known instead of suspected that she was guilty she would have been arrested.

Vera succeeded in reaching Russia with the paper and was paid a large price for it. Her sister finally rejoined her there.
